vitalogy wellness homewood al: Thank You for the Morning Light Robert S. Flowers, 2014-11-25 Dr. Bob Flowers has created a wonderful children's book of rhyming prayers, filled with heartwarming illustrations he created to emphasize their poetic messages. Thank You For The Morning Light is for the entire family to share and enjoy, bringing them closer together while strengthening both their faith and their spiritual relationships. As you pray together, often memorizing the poems, and alternating the reading (or saying) of its lines, you grow closer to each other; and you grow closer to our Father in Heaven. There is little in life that children enjoy more than reading out loud, memorizing, reciting and making rhyme - like that in the book. May it be a blessing for you and those you love!

vitalogy wellness homewood al: Becoming Twigo David Roberts, IV, 2014-04-18 A high school girl's shocking discovery threatens to unravel the lives of those around her in David Roberts IV's riveting debut, Becoming Twigo. A fifteen-year-old transfer student, who promptly earns the unflattering nickname "Twigo," struggles to adjust to life in a new school where money rules. After a brutal confrontation with cheerleader Roxanne, Twigo stumbles across her enemy's cell phone—which reveals that Roxanne, despite having a boyfriend, is actually a lesbian. Meanwhile, Twigo's burgeoning relationship with Sniper, a fellow student with a haunted past, faces an unexpected hurdle in the form of a vengeful ex-girlfriend. As Roxanne continues tormenting her, Twigo finally reveals that she knows her secret. Faced with the truth, the stoic cheerleader breaks down, admitting a truth far more astonishing than Twigo could have imagined. Confronted with this unexpected honesty, Twigo must reevaluate who she thinks she is, and who she wants to be.

vitalogy wellness homewood al: Rammer Jammer Yellow Hammer Warren St. John, 2005-05-31 What is it about sports that turns otherwise sane people into raving lunatics? Why does winning compel people to tear down goal posts, and losing, to drown themselves in bad keg beer? In short, why do fans care? In search of answers, Warren St. John seeks out the roving community of RVers who follow the Alabama Crimson Tide from game to game. A movable feast of Weber grills and Igloo coolers, these are hard-core football fans who arrive on Wednesday for Saturday's game: The Reeses, who skipped their own daughter's wedding because it coincided with a Bama game; Ray Pradat, the Episcopal minister who watches the games on a television beside his altar while performing weddings; and John Ed, the wheeling and dealing ticket scalper whose access to good seats gives him power on par with the governor. In no time at all, St. John buys an RV (a $5,500 beater named The Hawg) and joins the caravan for a full football season, chronicling the world of the extreme fan and learning that in the shadow of the stadium, it can all begin to seem strangely normal. Rammer Jammer Yellow Hammer is not only a hilarious travel story, but a cultural anthropology of fans that goes a long way toward demystifying the universal urge to take sides and to win.

vitalogy wellness homewood al: More Than a Bird Liz Huntley, 2015-07-29 Scared, abused and taken to the limit of a person's capacity to endure tragedy, Elizabeth Liz Huntley reveals the perils of a childhood that would lead most to a broken life or premature death. Liz, now a successful attorney at a prestigious southern law firm, recounts her journey from unimaginable darkness to radiance thanks to the early intervention of teachers, a pastor and caring people, strategically placed in her life by God. Decidedly unembellished, inherently poignant, More Than a Bird gives a glimpse of horror yet leaves only hope. Through her life story, Liz proves that on the wings of God, there is no height she cannot reach.

vitalogy wellness homewood al: Dear Black Girls Shanice Nicole, 2021-02-08 Dear Black Girls is a letter to all Black girls. Every day poet and educator Shanice Nicole is reminded of how special Black girls are and of how lucky she is to be one. Illustrations by Kezna Dalz support the book's message that no two Black girls are the same but they are all special—that to be a Black girl is a true gift. In this celebratory poem, Kezna and Shanice remind young readers that despite differences, they all deserve to be loved just the way they are.

From deadly weapons and alchemical items, to holy relics and lethal traps, you're sure to find something for every character and every budget -- along with the fantastic techniques and secret stocks some vendors only sell to their favorite customers.

vitalogy wellness homewood al: The Falconer Elizabeth May, 2014-05-06 Edinburgh, 1844. Beautiful Aileana Kameron only looks the part of an aristocratic young lady. In fact, she's spent the year since her mother died developing her ability to sense the presence of Sithichean, a faery race bent on slaughtering humans. She has a secret mission: to destroy the faery who murdered her mother. But when she learns she's a Falconer, the last in a line of female warriors and the sole hope of preventing a powerful faery population from massacring all of humanity, her quest for revenge gets a whole lot more complicated. The first volume of a trilogy from an exciting new voice in young adult fantasy, this electrifying thriller blends romance and action with steampunk technology and Scottish lore in a deliciously addictive read.

vitalogy wellness homewood al: Affective Health and Masculinities in South Africa Hans Reihling, 2020 Affective Health and Masculinities in South Africa explores how different masculinities modulate substance use, interpersonal violence, suicidality, and AIDS as well as recovery cross-culturally. With a focus on three male protagonists living in very distinct urban areas of Cape Town, this comparative ethnography shows that men's struggles to become invulnerable increase vulnerability. Through an analysis of masculinities as social assemblages, the study shows how affective health problems are tied to modern individualism rather than African 'tradition' that has become a clich   in Eurocentric gender studies. Affective health is conceptualized as a balancing act between autonomy and connectivity that after colonialism and apartheid has become compromised through the imperative of self-reliance. This book provides a rare perspective on young men's vulnerability in everyday life that may affect the reader and spark discussion about how masculinities in relationships shape physical and psychological health. Moreover, it shows how men change in the face of distress in ways that may look different than global health and gender transformative approaches envision. Thick descriptions of actual events over the life course make the study accessible to both graduate and undergraduate students in the social sciences. Contributing to current debates on mental health and masculinity, the volume will be of interest to scholars from a number of disciplines including anthropology, gender studies, African studies, psychology and global health--
