Understanding Compound Words: A Quick Refresher

Before we jump into the worksheets, let's ensure we're all on the same page. Compound words are words formed by combining two or more independent words. These words can be joined in several ways:

Closed Compound Words: These words are combined without a hyphen (e.g., sunlight, keyboard, notebook).

Hyphenated Compound Words: These words are joined with a hyphen (e.g., self-esteem, mother-in-law, check-in).

Open Compound Words: These words are written as two separate words (e.g., high school, ice cream, full moon).

Understanding these different forms is crucial for 5th graders to accurately identify and use compound words.

You could even make it a competition to see who can create the most unique or interesting compound words.
