Before you dive into designing t-shirts, the most crucial step is identifying a profitable niche. Don't just pick something you like; research what sells. Consider these factors:

Passion and Expertise: What are you truly passionate about? What knowledge do you possess that others might find valuable? A niche aligned with your interests will keep you motivated throughout the process.

Market Demand: Use tools like Google Trends, Etsy, and Amazon to research keywords related to your potential niche. Look for high search volume and low competition. Are people actively searching for products related to your ideas?

Profitability: Analyze the pricing of similar products on platforms like Etsy and Amazon. Can you offer competitive pricing while still maintaining a healthy profit margin? Consider the cost of production and your desired profit per item.

Competition Analysis: Identify your competitors. What are they doing well? What are their weaknesses? How can you differentiate your products and brand?

Don't be afraid to brainstorm multiple niche ideas. The more options you explore, the higher your chances of finding the perfect fit. Consider niches like pet owners, gamers, fitness enthusiasts, or travel lovers – the possibilities are endless!
